Florida's Orange Groves Blasted by Cold.

CALIFORNIA GRAIN AND THE GULF ROUTE.

Grant Meets with Unexpected Opposition to his Mexican Railway Scheme—Indian Outrages in Texas, etc., etc., etc.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, March 25.—World's City of Mexico correspondent intimates that Grant, whose intended visit to Mexico he this morning announces, is likely to encounter a [illegible] more or less organized opposition in his endeavor to popularize and make successful the development of a well considered system of railway communication between the United States and Mexico. This opposition will be offered to him by patriotic but ill informed Mexicans who honestly believe that the liberty and independence of their country will be imperilled by any extensions of its social and commercial relations with the United States. Nothing could be further from the truth. He could scarcely be set or occupied than in promoting good feeling between the two republics and encouraging extension of industrial and commercial relations between them. All patriotic and sensible Americans will wish him complete success in so good a work.

Trouble on the Roads West of Omaha.

OMAHA, March 25.—Another serious accident occurred this afternoon on the Union Pacific at North Bend, about twelve miles west of the old washout at Fremont. The track around the latter place was completed last night and this morning the running of through trains was resumed over the eastern division. An east bound express passed North Bend this afternoon in safety, although the Platte river was then rising rapidly at that point owing to an ice gorge, and the same train passed safely over the new track near Fremont. Shortly after this, however, the Platte suddenly made another big raise at North Bend, overflowed the country and washed out one mile and a half of track in a short time, the flood carrying the accumulated ice together with the track full a quarter of a mile, and at last accounts the river was still rising and washing badly. A west bound Union Pacific train, which had reached Fremont, returned to Omaha and took a new start over the Burlington & Missouri road to Kearney. Trains will be run by this latter route without delay until the break is repaired.

The overflow of the Platte river, in the vicinity of North Bend, is much more serious and extensive than at first reported. A new wagon bridge across the north channel of the river floated down at [illegible] o'clock to-night, part of it lodging on the prairie and the balance swinging on the bank. It was a new and expensive structure. The country is covered with water for miles and miles around North Bend, and is three feet deep in the town, the people being obliged to go from place to place in boats. About dark an additional raise of one foot in ten minutes occurred, but it has since gone down about eight inches. The extent of the damage can not now be estimated. Papillion river, about fifteen miles west of Omaha, is rising rapidly and endangers the Pacific bridge at Gilmore.

An Interesting Case of "If."

NEW YORK, March 25.—The Commercial Bulletin says: Recent statements respecting increase of the St. Louis, New Orleans and gulf export trade are of a character to arrest attention in commercial and transportation circles. In connection with this matter we observe an important movement on the part of wheat exporters on the Pacific coast. Negotiations are said to be pending between St. Louis and New Orleans transportation companies and parties in San Francisco for the conveyance of 20,000 car loads of wheat from the former city in barges to New Orleans for European shipment. If rail and water shipments of this magnitude can be made at a profit, one thing is certain, and that is that there will be a great deal of [illegible] in Pacific ports the coming season, but then everything depends on the "if."

Export of Gold from France to America Stopped.

Leading bankers have advices that the Bank of France has decided to stop payments of gold. The Post construes this to mean that the bank will, as in 1879, pay gold only on agreement, that it shall not be exported.

Regular press dispatches to-day make no mention of the suspension of gold payments by the Bank of France.

Florida Orange Groves Injured by a Cold Snap.

NEW YORK, March 25.—A letter from St. Johns river, Florida, says: The orange crop promises to be the smallest one ever known here. Large numbers of groves in this section of the country have been killed. Trees here thought to be 50 or 70 years old are utterly ruined. There has been [illegible] [illegible]

Delayed Mails.

NEW YORK, March 25.—There has been much inconvenience to business men in this city in consequence of detention since February 1st of the San Francisco mail bound over the Northwestern railroad route. This mail embraced principally banking letters and other communications of importance to business men. The mail had not arrived until this morning when Mr. Jackson, superintendent of this division of the railway mail service, received a telegram stating that the mails had been detained in Iowa three days in consequence of the snow blockade.

Alex. Delmar on the Southern Pacific.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Alexander Delmar, formerly director of the bureau of statistics and for many years engaged in mining in California and Nevada, was interviewed here yesterday regarding the Southern Pacific road, and said that it was first class in every respect and goes through fine country. He predicts that it will be conspicuously successful among its competitors. He also gives an interesting and encouraging account of mines in Arizona.

A Sensational Story Boiled Down.

CHICAGO, March 25.—The story told by detectives in New York of the arrest of a Chicago woman for a heavy diamond theft is largely overdrawn. The amount involved is only $201 dollars not $12,000, and hardly rises to the dignity of a sensation. The woman in question is Mrs. Dr. Ward and the victimized diamond broker is a Mr. Perkins, who had frequently loaned her money and on one occasion loaned her a ring he wore, to which she took a fancy. She immediately raised $150 dollars from a disreputable pawnbroker and disappeared. The ring has been recovered. Her family connections are not particularly distinguished.

Murders in Texas.

GALVESTON, March 25.—A farmer named Wilkins, living near Arlington, killed his brother-in-law named Harrison day before yesterday. Wilkins and his wife did not live happily together, and believing that Harrison was the cause of their trouble, the former shot him.

Two brothers, John and Michael Weets, aged 19 and 20, living with their parents at Palestine, Texas, quarreled day before yesterday and John killed Michael with a knife.

Indian Raid in Texas.

DALLAS, March 25.—Indians are raiding in Green county and considerable damage has been done by them.

More Expert Testimony.

NEW YORK, March 24.—In the Whittaker court martial to-day Assistant Postmaster Gayler, an expert, said that he had made up the note of warning from various letters he had taken from several samples of Whittaker's handwriting. He says that he had selected letters from samples which most resembled those in the note of warning. In answer to further questions, witness admitted that he could have selected from samples letters that would have made up the note of warning that would have no resemblance or characteristics to the original.

A Negligent Officer.

It was rumored to-night that the grand jury had under consideration during the day the conduct of Police Commissioner Nichols, chairman of the street cleaning department, in not keeping the streets properly cleaned, with a view of finding an indictment against him.

Fatal Accident.

GREENSBURG, Ind., March 24.—Five men were killed and three wounded by the breaking of a train here to-day.

Death of Col. Hecker.

ST. LOUIS, March 24.—Col. Fred Hecker, a prominent German politician, died at his home near Summerfield, Ills., to-night. He was one of the leaders of the German revolution in 1848, was exiled, and came to this country, where he has been prominently identified with the business and political interests.

Civil Suit Against Cardinal McCloskey.

NEW YORK, March 24.—John Stewart has begun an action against Cardinal McCloskey to enforce performance of a certain contract. Stewart claims that he entered into a contract with the cardinal to purchase the block bounded by Madison and Fourth Avenues and Fiftieth and Fifty-First streets. The buildings on the land were to be removed by the cardinal by August 1, 1880, when the first payment of $120,000 was to be made, the balance to be paid by a two year bond and a mortgage bearing six per cent. interest. This contract has not been carried out. Defendants admit the contract but claim that plaintiff was not able to carry the contract and undertook it as a speculation, he having by its terms five months in which to wait for a rise in the market value of the property.

A Singular Case.

Detectives to-night arrested the wife of a wealthy Chicago physician, a singularly handsome woman, who they say stole $12,500 worth of diamonds from Chas. W. Lasalle, a diamond broker in Lasalle street, last February. She came here under the name of Florence McNeil and was boarding in a fashionable up-town boarding house. She is said to be highly connected, but the police refuse to give her name.

A Texas Settlement.

GALVESTON, March 24.—In the northwestern part of Jackson county last Monday two stockmen, Leonard and Doyle, met by agreement to settle a difficulty, bringing another man as a witness. Leonard stopped off at a [illegible] distance when Doyle attempted to shoot him, but his gun hung fire. Leonard returned the fire on Doyle, which mortally wounded him. He then walked up to Doyle and shot him three times in the head, then [illegible] Doyle's gun mortally wounded the only witness to the tragedy and then escaped.

Murder and Suicide.

SIOUX CITY, March 24.—Gustav Friedrich, a crazy German saloon keeper, [illegible] years old, this morning shot with a double-barreled shotgun and instantly killed Judah [illegible] aged 11, and then put two charges into his own body, the latter one tearing away his heart. There was no cause known except insanity.

Murder in Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, March 24.—W. Berningham, a planter living near Viola, was assassinated yesterday. Cause and perpetrator unknown.

Fast Passenger Trains.

KANSAS CITY, March 24.—It is officially announced that the Hannibal & St. Joseph and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy roads will put on a fast train between here and Chicago next Sunday to connect with the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and Southern California [illegible]

[illegible] Morrison, Thurber & Santa Fe line. The [illegible] Chicago and [illegible] to be [illegible] matter, will also go [illegible] last [illegible] April 1st.

Died.

[illegible], Pa., March 25.—Col. E. A. L. Roberts, inventor of the oil well torpedo, died [illegible] this morning. He was doubtless the best known man [illegible] in the oil regions.

An Ill-fated Train.

CLEVELAND, March 25.—The Leader says: It is reported that the Pacific express on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad is an ill-fated train. Besides going through Ashtabula bridge at least a score of accidents have happened to it and a large number of passengers have lost their lives.

Nomination.

DETROIT, March 25.—The republican judicial convention being unable to agree on a candidate, nominated Russell R. Peeler by lot.

A Sanitary Measure.

Thirteen picked physicians and a squad of sanitary officers began this morning canvassing lodging houses and cellars throughout the city for the purpose of fighting typhus fever.

Fire at Jersey City.

NEW YORK, March 25.—A fire broke out this evening in the drying room of the collar works of C. A. Woolsey, Jersey City. A number of workmen were more or less burned, those most seriously, Arthur Scott, Timothy Tuill and Morris Grant, loss small.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Still Further Details.

NEW YORK, March 25.—No list of the victims of the opera house fire is yet published. The bodies in most cases were calcined and disfigured beyond recognition. The Strakosch injured is Ferdinand. During the fire several people frantic with terror, threw themselves from the roof of the theater and were dashed to pieces. The calamity was the result of unpardonable negligence. The gas pipes for part of the scenes had not been repaired or renewed for the last eleven years and an escape of gas which occurred four months ago was temporarily stopped with cement. The day before the fire another escape was discovered during rehearsal. Two inexperienced plumbers' apprentices were left to attend it without superintendency. It is supposed that they did their work imperfectly, consequently the escaped gas concentrated behind the drops and as soon as the burners were lighted in the wings the explosion occurred. The meter, which was the property of the town and which did duty for both the stage and auditorium, was instantly turned off and the theater thereby plunged in darkness, hence the panic and stampede which cost so many unfortunate people their lives. Very few persons were maimed, but the number of deaths was remarkably large. Two hundred and fifty people were crowded into a small gallery with only one narrow door which opened inward as a means of egress. On a stout oak door in the passage were the words "door in case of fire," but it had not been opened for years and it was impossible to break through it. The majority of the victims were Nicers or Italians. There was a public interment to-day of 35 of the victims.

Parnell Talks.

LONDON, March 25.—At a meeting in this city to-night Parnell said it was desirable to form organizations in England and Scotland for the purpose of forwarding the objects of the land league. It was not intended to compete with the home rule confederation, which would still remain in existence. The English land question, he thought, was at present ripe for settlement, but anything achieved in Ireland would favorably affect the laborers of England and Scotland. It was impossible for the government to finally settle the land question, but any proposals tending to ameliorate the condition of Ireland would be advanced by means of the proposed organization. They could, as in America, educate public opinion in England and Scotland. Money, he said, is flowing from America to Ireland at the rate of £2,000 weekly.

Resolutions were adopted to constitute the national land league of Great Britain, with Justin McCarthy as president, to assist the Irish land league to reduce rack rents and enable Irish tenant farmers to become owners of their holdings at reasonable terms, that the best way to attain these objects is by taking practical steps to cultivate English public opinion.

Gladstone on the Stand.

LONDON, March 25.—In the [illegible] libel case this morning Gladstone, who occupied a seat on the bench, deposed that the account which appeared in the Daily Telegraph of what passed between himself and a negro porter was altogether false. He had hoped to receive some explanation or apology from Laws [illegible] [illegible] on the subject.

Parliamentary.

[illegible] in parliament are [illegible] with the [illegible] Home rulers are [illegible] of leading attention to recent utterances of several Irish judges and asking their dismissal.

Death of the Pope's Brother.

Count Pecci the Pope's brother is dead.

The National Steeplechase.

LONDON, March 25.—The grand national steeplechase to-day was won by Woodbrook, Regal second, Thornfield third.

The Last Rites.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 25.—The following is the programme of the funeral ceremonies of the late czar: Persons invited to attend will assemble at 10:30 o'clock A. M., in the cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul. The remains will be carried to a vault in the cathedral by the emperor, grand dukes, members of foreign reigning families and chief court dignitaries. A salute will be fired the minute the coffin is lowered into the grave. After the ceremony the imperial insignia will be conveyed back to the Winter Palace.

Called to Account.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 25.—The author of an article in the Vedomosti, charging the administration with indolence and robbery and society with cherishing illusions, which led to the assassination of the czar, has been summoned by the minister of the interior to appear before a judge.

An Official Statement.

LONDON, March 25.—The American consul at Nice telegraphs as follows: Sixty-nine lives were lost by the opera house fire; no Americans or English among the victims. Public interment takes place to-day. Shops are closed.

The Eastern Question.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 25.—At Wednesday's conference Ottoman delegates are reported to have presented their final proposal. They declared that the porte could neither cede Crete nor any part of Albania. The line of frontier they proposed is understood to go considerably beyond that offered by the Turkish note of the 3d of October. The territory now offered in Thessaly comprises Larisa, Trikali, Turnova and the whole valley of Salembria, but excludes, Prevesa and Metzova and part of Epirus is comprised in the proposed line. Embassadors will communicate this offer to their governments, and on receiving a reply will hold another meeting.

Trade at Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, March 25.—A leading grain circular says: Grain has been quieter in all departments, and at various spot markets [illegible] advance is reported, but the demand is less active. Off coast cargoes were steadily held, but there was only limited inquiry for shipments, and on passage prices were a shade easier. On spot, since Tuesday, business in wheat and corn has been at retail rates and unaltered. To-day's market was thinly attended and wheat was in small demand and fell 1d. Flour was slow and unchanged. New mixed corn was rather easier, but old, on account of scarcity, remained firm.

MEXICO.

Discovery of Interesting Ruins.

NEW YORK, March 25.—A Mexican correspondent says that the Lorillard exploring party have been actively engaged, but the present laws of Mexico prohibit any exportation of antiquities. It is expected that the coming session of congress will pass a bill which will facilitate that object. On the line of the Mexican central railway a buried town was discovered and evidences of an advanced civilization found. There were paved streets, irregular stone steps and carved stonework indicating a high order of workmanship.

Mexican Items.

CITY OF MEXICO (via Havana), March 25.—The Mexican chief engineer [illegible] surveyed the Tehuantepec route, and reports Captain Eads' project entirely practicable.

Ovations to Gen. Ord continue.

It is reported that the government refuses to sanction alterations in the concession in which it [illegible] transferred to the company organized by Gen. Grant.

The Northern Pacific "Deal."

[From the St. Paul Pioneer Press, March 15.

The New York special of the Pioneer Press, who is painstaking and conscientious in his statements, confirms the report that the Northern Pacific road has passed into the control of the Oregon Navigation Co., and that the Billings management will be retired at the September meeting of the directory, and that Robert Harris will probably succeed to the presidency. Our special says that President Villard of the Oregon company went into Wall street recently and by good management bought $25,000,000 of Northern Pacific securities without exciting the market. Three-quarters of this is common stock, for which he paid an average of $35, and the remainder preferred, which was bought on an average of $60. Mr. Villard represents a syndicate prominent in which is George M. Pullman, president of the Palace Car Co., and William Endicott, a well known Boston capitalist. The work of construction is to be pushed with all possible dispatch, and the alleged new managers pledge themselves to have the line in operation from Duluth to Puget Sound in 1884. In any event that great northwestern empire is to be developed and its products are to have outlets to the Atlantic and Pacific and the Gulf of Mexico. The Northern Pacific proposes to contribute its share to this development, and it will reap a rich reward for its outlay.

Lacking the Rosy Hue of Romance.

From the Norristown Herald.

A brave boy, who kept twenty Indians at bay, died of his wounds at Denver, Col., a few days ago. It never happens that way in a dime novel of Indian warfare. The brave boy in a dime novel would have kept twenty Indians at bay until there was not an Indian left to bay at him, and then he would have married a beautiful white captive with long hair kissed by the sunlight, lips like lilies, eyes of diamonds, a marble brow and a good-natured father worth $950,000. There is too much reality in the real.

It should be the business of every one having a cold to treat it promptly and properly until it is gotten rid of—intelligent experience fortunately presenting a curative in Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, thoroughly adapted to remove speedily all coughs and colds, allay any existing inflammation of the throat or lungs, and remove the distressing symptoms of asthma or pleurisy.

THE SENATE YESTERDAY

Some Sharp Personal and Partisan Talk, but No Business Transacted.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—[illegible] [illegible] the senate and [illegible] [illegible]

Johnson said, referring to [illegible] democrats [illegible] that some [illegible] The republican party [illegible] [illegible] He [illegible] that the [illegible] a republican [illegible] of the highest [illegible] lawyer but [illegible] Would [illegible] Sherman, [illegible] the United States, [illegible] Riddleberger [illegible] Mahone and Riddleberger [illegible] that they were democrats and repudiators.

Dawes suggested that Mahone was sick, and Johnston proposed to postpone [illegible] of Dawes would postpone his [illegible] which Dawes refused.

Logan asked what effect [illegible] of Dawes and [illegible] would have [illegible]

Johnston said that by electing [illegible] the record and [illegible] from [illegible] denouncing Riddleberger.

Logan asked if Johnston [illegible] that because the republicans selected Riddleberger they endorsed his sentiments.

Johnston—Yes.

Logan asked if Johnston pretended that the republicans endorsed Riddleberger's rebellion by selecting him, did they endorse Longstreet's treason when they appointed him to the Turkish mission.

Johnston said that the war was over. Longstreet had very foolishly repented of his crime and the republicans had taken him to their bosoms, but this was a living issue of public faith and credit, and by electing Riddleberger the republicans endorsed his views on those points.

Logan denied that he ever endorsed repudiation. If Johnston's constituency had been as honest as his in paying their debts the question would not be before Virginia's people.

Johnston described the condition of Virginia finances under bourbon rule and favored executive session. Debate continued.

At 3:30 there was another vote on executive session and then a wordy sparring match between Beck and Dawes as to the latter's debt paying principles. Beck insisting that Dawes was inconsistent therein, and [illegible] that Riddleberger was accepted as the payment of debt from the republican party to Mahone.

Beck then moved executive session in order to confirm Robertson, in accordance with the [illegible] as well as the senate of New York state, 1881, 27 to 25.

Harris quizzed Dawes as to his motives in supporting Riddleberger.

Dawes said that it was because he was an able, [illegible] and prominent man in the cause in which a free ballot in this country is involved, [illegible] because he was determined that every voter in Virginia should be allowed to cast his vote and have it counted.

Harris [illegible] to ask the senator when and through what channel he learned that Riddleberger was so profoundly in favor of a free vote and a fair count. Was it not through the [illegible] approved from the late elected senator from Virginia?

Dawes—I have two answers to make. First suppose it was, I could take the word of the senator from Virginia quite as soon as I would that of any man in Virginia whom I found with his knee on the neck of a poor black man struggling for his rights. (Applause and hisses in the galleries.)

The vice president reprimanded the galleries for interruption of proceedings, and gave notice that if they continued to do so he would order them cleared.

Voorhees said that the noise here in senate on either belonged to the other side. He was glad to see it in the galleries, but insisted that it must keep silence.

Dawes—The gentleman should understand that the galleries [illegible] the American people, and though it was their duty to behave, they were [illegible] [illegible] oppressed by the senator [illegible]

Saulsbury said that the president [illegible] [illegible]

Kalloch's Congregation Express Satisfaction.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Agreeably to an arrangement previously made by a special committee drawn from the Y. W. C. and congregation of the Metropolitan Temple, quite a numerous gathering assembled at the temple this evening. After passing resolutions eulogistic of Judge Temple, the jury and Messrs. Highton and Galpin, counsel for the defense in the Kalloch trial, hacks were procured and a committee accompanied by a brass band drove to the residences of his counsel with the intention of serenading them, but being informed that they were out of town the party proceeded to Kalloch's residence. After the serenade both the elder and younger Kalloch addressed them briefly and the visitors then retired.

The San Francisco Rice Market.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—The market for Hawaiian rice is a little mixed, being variously quoted at 5¼ to 6c. Parties who profess to have the bulk of the stock here and to arrive are asking 6c while others are selling in a limited way at 5½c. There has been a good deal shipped overland in the past few weeks. The plan of selling China Rice is also mixed. It is said that an agreement to sell by actual weight has been broken.

Suicide.

WOODLAND, March 25.—Frank Walter shot and killed himself in a house of prostitution at this place Thursday at 7 o'clock.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH.

Death of Capt. L. L. Williams.

ROSEBURG, Or., March 25.—A telegram just received, announces the death of Capt. L. L. Williams at San Francisco. Deceased was an old and respected citizen of this county and for many years county clerk. Particulars of his death not known.

Two Californians.

[Joaquin Miller.]

I knew two neighbors, old Californians, who had about equal fortunes. They were both old settlers, both rich, and both much respected. In that fearful year, 1862, when the dying and destitute immigrants literally crawled on hands and knees over the Sierras, trying to reach the settlements, one of these men drove all his cattle up to the mountains, butchered them, and fed the starving. He had his Mexicans pack all the mules with flour, which at that time cost about its weight in gold, and push on night and day over the mountains to meet the strangers there about to perish, that they might have strength to reach his house, where they could have shelter and rest. The other man, cold and cautious, saw his opportunity and embraced it. He stayed at home and sold all his wheat and mules and meat, and with the vast opportunities for turning money to account in that new country, soon became almost a prince in fortune. But his generous neighbor died a beggar in Idaho, where he had gone to try to make another fortune. He literally had not money enough to buy a shroud, and as he died among strangers by the roadside, he was buried with strangers in such as a pine board coffin.

Metternich on Napoleon.

[From the New Volume of Memoirs.]

All may be said in two words: Napoleon was a very small man of imposing character. He was ignorant, as a sub-lieutenant generally is, a remarkable [illegible] supplied the place of knowledge. From [illegible] opinion of men he never [illegible] that he should do wrong. He ventured everything and gained thereby an immense step toward success. Throwing himself upon a prostrate world, he seized the world and made himself master of it, while others cannot even get so far as being masters of their own hearth. Then he went on and on until he broke his neck. He ended as he must have ended and was judged as all those are judged who find means to rise above common level. As a legitimate ruler of a small state he would never have been heard of, except as an arbitrary monarch. As a military commander in any country whatever, as an administrator or wherever the storm of revolution raged, he would always have come out strongly. In the situation in which he was he must have played the part he did play and which no man of better principles could have ventured to undertake.

An Oswego editor went to Buffalo the other day, and soon after telegraphed to his dear readers: "Your humble servant completed negotiations for a mother-in-law this evening," and the telegram is published in his paper, signed with his name.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The President Decides not to Call a Special Session.

HOW GRANT HAS BEEN SNUBBED BY GARFIELD.

Conkling's Attitude toward Robertson—An American Officer Detailed to Command the Chinese Navy—Official Nominations—Bullion Purchase, Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, March 25.—[illegible]

[illegible] Mahone [illegible]

[illegible] Matthews [illegible]

[illegible] combinations.

An American Commodore to Reorganize the Chinese Navy.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—It now appears that the object [illegible] detaching Commodore Shufeldt from regular duty here and sending him as special attache to the U. S. legation at Pekin is in furtherance of a request of Li Hung Chang, viceroy of China, who, when the commodore was in China [illegible] offered him the command of the navy of that government, being desirous of [illegible] on American principles. He gave the matter serious consideration and upon his return to this country decided to accept the position. Secretary Hunt was heartily in favor of his accepting [illegible] believing that [illegible] [illegible] in the east. The order attaching the commodore to the legation at Pekin was made so that he [illegible] [illegible] will leave for his post of duty in a few weeks.

Grant's Requests Disregarded by Garfield.

A prominent Grant man referring to recent nominations says that while the administration appears to have given Gen. Grant consideration it really has denied him the only two requests he asked. His requests, this gentleman said, were that Gen. Badeau should be retained as consul general at London, and that John Russell Young should be sent as minister to Mexico. [illegible] position at London, where his salary and fees [illegible] [illegible] to about $12,000, and he has been sent to Denmark, where his fixed salary is $5,000 and in a much more expensive city, and where also he will be denied the facilities which he desired for completing [illegible] John Russell Young [illegible] to be sent to Mexico, and it does not now appear that any preference [illegible] of Grant will go there. [illegible] Hulbert, of Illinois, expects to be selected for that position.

Interpretations of Robertson's Appointment.

Several friends of the president, having [illegible] to the construction of events [illegible] at New York, [illegible] [illegible] on the part of the president to [illegible] Conkling [illegible] their understanding is that [illegible] not only that he desired [illegible] those who [illegible] given to him in the first [illegible] to nominate [illegible] that he was to be [illegible] to the control of the New York custom house [illegible] [illegible] as it was the nominee of Robertson [illegible] [illegible]

Conkling and Robertson's Appointment.

[illegible]

A Political Rumor.

[illegible]

Conkling will Fight.

[illegible] [illegible] his name by the president.

The Fight in the Senate.

The democrats to-day [illegible] [illegible] Mahone [illegible] [illegible] senate has gone and come home for a week. There is no sign of yielding.

Cabinet Meeting.

There was a cabinet session to-day. [illegible]

No Extra Session.

The president and cabinet have decided against an extra session.

It is ascertained on trustworthy authority that the extra session question was included among the topics of the cabinet meeting to-day. The fact is generally accepted as conclusive evidence that the president has decided not to call a special session unless something unlooked for happens. Delay in setting the matter at rest is ascribed by one of his advisers to the president's usual custom of listening to every argument that can possibly be advanced pro and con, before taking any final action on any important matter.

The Latest Report.

It is said on good authority that the extra session question was not brought up at the cabinet meeting to-day. The failure to discuss the matter is attributed by some to the absence of Secretary Blaine, who was confined to his house by a severe cold, but the more general supposition is that it had already been practically determined not to call an extra session, and that further cabinet discussion at this time was therefore unnecessary.

Protests against an extra session continue to come in from business centers of all parts of the country, and pressure in favor of one seems to be rapidly narrowing down to the southern republicans, who, of course, desire the machinery of the house committee on elections to be set at work as soon as possible to take contested democratic seats, which they insist have been filled fraudulently.

The Evening Star says: A western member of congress who called at the White House to-day, inquired of the president if it was likely that he would be called back to attend an extra session. If he went home, and the president told him with a laugh that he [illegible] thought it was safe to go home. The universal belief among republican senators at the capitol late this afternoon, despite the refusal of the president and his cabinet to make any formal announcement of a decision on the subject, was that the extra session agitation is simply being let down easily and no call will be issued.

Exonerated.

The state department has information disproving the statement regarding a recently published report reflecting upon U. S. Consul Roosevelt at Matanzas, and a gentleman named Drake, the charge being the reported grandiosity by the consul.

Nominations.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The president has nominated Robt. R. Hitt of Illinois, assistant secretary of state; Nathan W. Spaulding, Assistant U. S. treasurer at San Francisco and Chas. M. Levy, assistant appraiser at San Francisco.

Bullion Purchase.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—No silver will be purchased by the treasury department this week. All bids offered were in excess of what the department would pay.

The Satire of History.

[From the Sacramento Record-Union.]

The murder of the late emperor points the moral of the satire of history. It teaches us that the tyranny of a strong ruler is avenged upon his own kindred. [illegible] Louis the Sixteenth, [illegible] was a liberal and well meaning prince, bent upon extensive reforms, and anxious to relieve the sufferings of his people. His measures gave them the first taste of liberty and justice they had enjoyed for generations. And the first use they made of their recovered power was to destroy their emancipator. Under the iron rule of the Emperor Nicholas Russia was silent, but remained passive. His [illegible] of military government converted the empire into a camp. He punished discussion. He excluded [illegible] He sent thinkers to Siberia. He exacted blind and servile obedience. The people patiently submitted to all this, and even, when the system had broken down in the [illegible] [illegible] Alexander the Second not only contemplated but carried into effect sweeping and salutary reforms. He gave virtual freedom to millions of people. He removed the restrictions from literature and the press. He permitted [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] And [illegible] his reward is assassination.

Secretary Lincoln.

The New York Herald thinks that a position [illegible] [illegible] It says:

The war department goes to Mr. Lincoln, the only surviving son of the venerated Liberator. An appointment of this kind might be expected from the warm mind of the president, and it will please the imagination of the country. Mr. Lincoln is a man of ability and character. His nomination will gratify Senator Logan, with whom Mr. Lincoln acted in the famous combination of the 306. Mr. Lincoln is the one distinctive Grant man in the cabinet, and will, we have no doubt, make a useful war secretary.

THE LIGHT OF THE AGE.

A Biography of its Inventor—His Characteristics and Methods of Work.

He Makes a Complete Electric Apparatus in [illegible] and Successfully Operates Them [illegible] of [illegible]

[illegible]

In 1877 his attention was called to the subject of electric lighting by the experiments of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] Brush [illegible] [illegible] He will then take a pattern with careful eye, and, glancing over it, detect a difference in parallelism of less than the sixty-fourth of an inch. On several occasions he had, with no help but one inch steel rule, divided off into hundredths of an inch, measured dimensions with a two-thousandths of an inch, as verified by a vernier caliper. In addition to his other accomplishments, he is an accurate and skillful, though self-taught mechanic, and nearly all of [illegible] [illegible] Mr. Brush, [illegible] skilled workmen and filled with the most costly and convenient machinery [illegible] he probably has the greatest facilities for experiment and [illegible] of any living inventor. [illegible] Mr. Brush has steadily pursued the policy of [illegible] only such inventions as seem to give promise of some return. While, therefore, he has obtained and owns twenty-six patents he has [illegible] scope, ready [illegible] demand, a large number of inventions bearing upon the general subject he has been investigating. Two-thirds of his patents are [illegible]

It is a remarkable fact, that, notwithstanding the very extensive use of the Brush apparatus in this country, it is certain that experts do not understand or comprehend the relation of its [illegible] [illegible] While its mechanical construction of the machine is of the simplest possible character, its theoretical basis is far from being so [illegible] [illegible] radically different from the systems of Siemens [illegible] every particular [illegible] of any other inventor. The Brush machines have already made the inventor famous as well as wealthy. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and by the Anglo-American Electric Light Company of London for £150,000 and by the [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

Having now perfected his machine, he turned his attention to the coordinate and not less important element of a complete electric lighting system—the lamps. The state of the art in this branch was even so far advanced as in machines, for there was absolutely nothing in the market that was at all practical. Mr. Brush immediately began original investigations in this field and within a few months reached gratifying results. He entirely discarded the cumbersome, expensive and unreliable clockwork systems hitherto in vogue, and the lamp he invented and still uses has no clockwork mechanism of any description. [illegible] [illegible] electric lamp known [illegible]

A brief description of the machine and lamp taken from a recently published monograph by Mr. Brush, will probably convey an idea of them better than in any other way.

The most prominent peculiarities of the Brush dynamo-electric machine are [illegible] the arrangement of field magnets and commutator.

The armature consists of a flat ring of cast iron [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] a magnetic field [illegible] [illegible]

The field magnets of the machine face both sides of the armature in the plane of its rotation [illegible] [illegible] are exposed to the direct inductive influence of the magnets. This arrangement of armature and magnets differs radically from that adopted in the Gramme machine, the only other dynamo-electric machine of note in which an annular armature is employed.

When the armature is rotated at its normal speed of 750 revolutions per minute, and its field magnets held, the electro-motive force developed [illegible] [illegible] current through an external resistance [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] No other [illegible] dynamo-electric machine has yet shown a result comparable with this.

The bobbins of wire on the armature of the Brush machine are not connected together [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of any other pair.

The characteristics of the lamps are: Very great simplicity of construction; insuring excessive [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of working, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the number of lamps in the circuit [illegible]

[illegible] In investigating [illegible] Mr. Brush seems apparently to have an unfailing intuition [illegible] [illegible] be the result of a certain line of experiments [illegible] certain conditions. He is thus protected from making many useless experiments and from starting [illegible] [illegible] A great many people come to him to propose improvements or new devices of every possible description, frequently quite infatuated with their own ideas and convinced of their practicability. [illegible] a fallacy or in error [illegible] [illegible] an unprepared [illegible] he instantly detects it and kindly [illegible]

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

Mr. John Bunyan [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Bunyan in the hands of the printer.

Thomas Nelson & Sons, printers for the Oxford Bible House, announce that the new version of the New Testament will be published in May. They [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] before the committee issue it for four or five years yet.

Ben Butler [illegible] Roscoe Conkling and Russell Sage. The contrast between Gould's glittering black eyes and Sage's mild blue orbs was only equaled by the contrast between the evenly-trimmed black beard and mustache and Sage's clean-shaven face. One looked like Sam Slick, and the other resembled a Spanish student.

Mr. John Coonatts, formerly of Yamhill county in this state and later a resident of Idaho where he held various important positions, has entered into a law partnership in New York city with Gilbert C. Walker, formerly governor of Virginia, and Mr. Charles A. Hill of New York. Their office is at 115 Broadway.

At a recent book sale in London a copy of the Mazarine edition of the bible printed in Latin about 1452 by Gutenberg, with the cut metal type which he had invented a few years before, complete from Genesis to the end of the book of Maccabees, was purchased by a prominent collector, after brisk competition, for about $[illegible].

Professor R. B. Anderson, of the university of Wisconsin, is writing the biography of Ole Bull, probably with the assistance, in the way of materials and family papers, of the great violinist's widow, whose home, it will be remembered, is Madison. Professor Anderson is also preparing an American edition of the works of Bjornstjerne Bjornson.

Senator Carpenter [illegible] spoke of Senator Edmunds: "You may put me in the chair blindfolded and I can tell whether or not Senator Edmunds is in his seat by the character of the legislation that is brought up. It is known that he will be absent for a few days, every bill with a [illegible] in it is brought to the front and pushed, whereas if he is present nothing is said about them."

Two more volumes are ready of Mr. William J. Rolfe's "Shakespeare." They are "The Taming of the Shrew" and "All's Well that Ends Well." The illustrations are of great interest, and the notes are admirable. A feature of these little books is the introductions which include critical comments on the play from the writings of the best Shakespearean scholars. Harper & Brothers are the publishers.

The New York Sun of March 5th says: The block in the rear of St. Patrick's cathedral, bounded by Madison and Fourth avenues and Fiftieth and Fifty-first streets, was sold recently by the cathedral trustees to a syndicate of five purchasers, among whom were Mr. John H. Pope and ex-Mayor Smith Ely, for $475,000. The 200 feet front on Madison avenue has been sold to a depth of 125 feet to Mr. Henry Villard, president of the Oregon Steamship Company, for $250,000. He will build two large apartment houses upon it. The old church of St. John the Evangelist is the only building upon it. The block was acquired by the Catholic church about forty years ago.

The Critic has an interesting article on the success of Dr. J. G. Holland's books, of which it says 550,000 copies have been sold since Scribner published the Titcomb letters, something over 20 years ago. His poem of "Kathrina" heads the list with over 90,000 copies, and is followed by "Bitter-Sweet" with [illegible]; the Titcomb book comes next, with [illegible], and not one of the author's books but was a publisher's success. Scribner & Co. have determined now to issue new and revised editions. The plates of some of the work are actually worn out, and the demand, still active, is shared by a new generation of readers. The new edition will advance in groups, first the didactic—the "Titcomb Letters," "Gold Foil," "Lessons in Life," "Plain Talks," "Letters to the Joneses," etc. The last mentioned has been entirely rewritten, the epistolary form being dropped, so as to make two [illegible] of sketches of personal types. Several of the "Plain Talks" will be omitted, and new and better ones substituted.

Harper & Brothers have already published "Reminiscences of Thomas Carlyle," edited by Mr. Froude. These are papers on James Carlyle, Edward Irving, Lord Jeffrey and Mrs. Carlyle, all written by Mr. Carlyle himself. They will have multitudes of readers. The papers in the present form are published by the Harpers as one of the numbers of the Franklin Square Library. Harper & Brothers also make the following announcement: Being the American publishers of works by Thomas Carlyle, [illegible] arranged, in 1879, through Mr. Moncure D. Conway, with Mr. [illegible] for the American publication of his "Reminiscences," and Mr. Froude having used his privilege as executor to furnish [illegible] sheets to [illegible] publishers in this country, [illegible] notwithstanding Mr. Froude's disregard of our arrangements with Mr. Carlyle, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the Franklin Square Library [illegible]

A STATEMENT FROM MR. HENRY VILLARD.

His Transactions in Northern Pacific Stocks—An Account of the Meeting of the Board—Issue of the Eighteen Millions—Injunction against such Issue Granted.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

NEW YORK, March [illegible]

[illegible] You may publish the following [illegible] in your paper:

All you have said in The [illegible] [illegible] Northern [illegible] [illegible] essentially true. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] about $20,000,000 [illegible] absolute control [illegible] addition offers of irrevocable proxies from outside stock to the [illegible] majority, but in order to conciliate existing interests I went to President Billings, told him frankly what I had done, and invited him and his friends to come into the combination with their holdings, or to sell out to me at their own prices. He declined to do either. The report I gave him to understand that I would have [illegible] against him [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] board. At the request of some of his directors I prepared and printed a statement [illegible] what the relations of the two companies should be, which I will send you for publication, and which will show that the statement that we desire to prevent the construction of a Cascade branch is an absolute falsehood.

This statement was submitted to the Northern Pacific board last Thursday, and a special committee consisting of Potts, Ellis and [illegible] to consider and make recommendations upon the relations of the two companies and to report action in the board on Friday last. Between the adjournment of the last board meeting and the departure of most of the Oregon [illegible], Billings called the remaining members of the executive board secretly together and procured, on their [illegible], resolutions directing the immediate issue of over eighteen millions of common stock to [illegible] hands of the company, the object being of course to maintain Billings and friends in power, [illegible] they [illegible] to get the additional stock [illegible] [illegible] growing out of the combination. No notice whatever of the proposed issue was given to the other directors, three of whom, including Messrs. Ellis and Britton, the two directors representing the syndicate headed by Drexel, Morgan & Co., and Winslow, Lanier & Co., which recently placed twenty millions of Northern Pacific bonds, have [illegible]

Having been advised by [illegible] that the issue of stock was utterly [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

H. VILLARD.

The O. R. & N. and the N. P. R. R.

NEW YORK, March 25.—A western gentleman [illegible] in the Oregon Navigation Company, says: "I repeat that the Oregon party care nothing at all at the Tacoma [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the great expense of constructing it at a time when it is not known, by anybody whether the Northern Pacific Company will have money enough to complete [illegible] to the mouth of Snake river. They have as yet neither surveyed their estimates of the most difficult portions of their route, and probably the most difficult of all will be the Tacoma branch. Why then should the Northern Pacific precipitate a war with the Navigation Company to the detriment of its own shareholders, which must result in postponing all dividends for a very long time, and if it rely upon the Tacoma route for its profits, postpone them forever? Such a war is utterly fruitless and wasteful, and in my judgment will never be tolerated by the real parties in interest."

The N. P. New Issue Enjoined.

Judge Speir of the superior court to-day granted an injunction restraining the Northern Pacific from issuing any of the 180,000 shares of common stock which the executive committee of directors recently decided to issue. Henry Villard, one of the chief managers of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company and of the "blind pool," obtained the injunction.

The New Issue of N. P. Stock already on the Market.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The Evening Post says of Judge Speir's injunction: It is believed that part if not all of the 18,000 shares divided has already appeared on the stock market and is now mixed up with the 400,000 shares of common stock which had been issued before or about which there is no question. No other reason can account for the decline in the market price of the stock on news of the injunction.

List of Holders of the Newly Issued Stock.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The Times this morning has the following: Villard furnishes the following list of parties to whom portions of the 180,000 shares of stock have been issued and who are restrained by injunction from its transfer: Frederick Billings, 17,291; Chas. L. Wright, 3551; Benj. P. Cheney, 5551; Johnstone Livingston, 6505; Joseph Dilworth, [illegible]; Joseph D. Potts, 422; Hugh McCulloch, 125; Ashbel H. Barney, 2822; Henry E. Johnston, [illegible]; James B. Williams, 555; Robt. L. Belknap, [illegible]; J. Gregory Smith, 10,017; Charlemagne Tower, [illegible]; James Stinson, 8672; W. G. Fargo, 1262.

QUIPS AND CRANKS.

I told her I'd never cease to offer [illegible] he said softly, "and I won't, a paper's good enough for me," and he drew a match over the top of his trousers.

Prisoner behind the grating of a cell. Visitor: "What are you in for, my man?" "[illegible] I haven't got so low as that yet. Why, I'm in for a simple drunk only."

We see an article in the paper about "who invented ore." We know they will invent a boy who won't whistle in the street-cars, or bawl the head lines when selling papers.

"With neatness," he remarked, as he shot down hill on a bob-sled, "and dispatch." He pressed the next day, pointing to a 15-cent strip of court-plaster on his nasal appendage and classical forehead.

WRINKLED FACES.

It is a painful sight to see young ladies in their teens with wrinkled and prematurely old faces, nevertheless it is quite common, and to any one who observes the tendency of the times the reason is very apparent. Owing to flaming advertisements such as certificates, in which are used the names of eminent physicians and chemists, the unsuspecting and credulous have been induced to use some of the so called liquid beautifiers, all of which are known to be positively injurious and if used for any length of time will destroy the complexion, so that it will be next to impossible to restore it. Mothers should be very careful to see that their daughters do not use these preparations but ask for and obtain Slaven's Harmless Yosemite Face Powder, the only harmless beautifier. MATTERS AT WASHINGTON.

The worry at Washington over the offices at the disposal of the senate is rather small business. It is in fact very small business. Nor can the impartial critic justly say that the republicans are appearing in it with great advantage to themselves and their party. It was perfectly proper for them to contend for organization of the committees, for the committees virtually control legislation. But all this contention about the couple of dozen subordinate officers of the senate is unseemly. It can not be a matter of immense importance to the country that these officials be changed right now. They are simply the servants of the senate, and can have no influence whatever upon the course or direction of its business. This scramble for a few places, most of them of the petty sort, does not greatly dignify or ennoble the republican party, in whose name the scramble is going on.

The pressure for an extra session of congress seems to be abating. Most of the reasons urged for it have been placed on economic grounds, and refer chiefly to refunding that portion of the public debt which will soon fall due. The amount of the maturing 5 and 6 per cent bonds is $671,587,200, and the interest on them for one year would be $35,602,025. On a like amount of bonds the interest for a year would be, at 3½ per cent, $23,505,552, and at 3 per cent, $20,147,616. If, then, the immediate convocation of congress to provide for refunding would make a difference in time of one year, the saving to the treasury thereby would be, at 3 per cent, $15,454,409, and at 3½ per cent, $12,096,473. But it need not make a difference of one year. A funding bill might be enacted within much less time than that after the bonds mature. The saving of interest could not be much more than compensated by the expenses of a session of congress, with the customary general extravagance of a session thrown in. Besides, it has been shown that a postponement of refunding until next winter would not necessarily involve the loss of the difference between the interest on the old and the proposed new bonds exhibited above. The authority of the treasury under the 4 per cent. refunding act is not yet exhausted. Under that act the treasury yet has power to issue $104,000,000 of 4 per cents, which, at the present price, would yield $114,000,000. Power is also given by the clause known as the Bayard amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill, to "at any time apply the surplus money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated to the purchase or redemption of bonds, provided that the bonds so purchased or redeemed shall be canceled. The surplus revenue available for this purpose during the current fiscal year it is estimated will reach $90,000,000. It will thus be seen that the treasury is already provided with the means of retiring $204,000,000 of the maturing bonds. The total amount of the outstanding 6 per cents is $202,266,550. No further legislation is required to enable the treasury to refund $101,000,000 of this amount in 4 per cents, and to redeem and cancel the remainder. The 5 per cents ($469,320,650) would be still outstanding. The interest on them for one year would be $23,466,032. The interest on a like amount of 3½ per cents would be $16,425,222. Difference lost to the treasury by postponement of refunding of 5 per cents for one year, $7,030,810. But as congress will meet in less than six months after the maturing of most of these bonds, it is not seen why the delay should be protracted one year.

Party considerations would seem to go against the calling of an extra session. Experience has usually shown that the party responsible for an extra session has not profited by it. It is a common rule that political parties gain more by shirking responsibility than by seeking it. Every positive movement of a party in power affords some ground for the attack of the opposition. Too much is expected of legislation; and let a legislative body do what it will, it is pretty certain to receive more censure than commendation.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC SITUATION.

There is now pretty full information as to recent transactions in Northern Pacific. Latest dispatches, including the statement telegraphed by Mr. Villard, furnish the data hitherto wanted for an intelligible view of the subject. The Villard syndicate had obtained twenty-seven millions of the stock by absolute purchase, and moreover had secured pledges from outside stockholders of sufficient additional amounts to make an absolute majority of the entire stock of the company. Here was an influence and power portending a change in the direction of the affairs of the corporation. Thereupon it was resolved by the present management to order the immediate issue of the eighteen millions of additional stock. Mr. Villard says that most of this stock went to members of the party now in control. By this issue the majority in the hands of the Villard syndicate would of course be overborne. Clearly it was an expedient to retain control. But this movement is now resisted on the ground that the issue of additional stock was wholly illegal, and an injunction has been obtained which it is claimed covers all the points necessary for protection of the original stock against the new issue. So far, then, the Villard party appear to hold the winning hand. Their movements indicate a fixed purpose to pursue their original object. Should the eighteen millions of stock be finally adjudged illegal, they will meet no further difficulty in securing the ascendant in the corporation at their next annual meeting. When THE OREGONIAN announced some weeks ago that the Villard syndicate had obtained control of a majority of the stock of the Northern Pacific, it reported truly a now undeniable fact. It was not, however, advised that the expedient would be employed of issuing so vast an amount of additional stock to overbear that majority. This paper simply endeavors to report the facts as they exist in this contest between representatives of the two great corporations. Friendly to both enterprises and holding the men who represent them in personal esteem, we regret that this struggle has taken its present form, since it may hinder the speedy development of the Pacific northwest which could best be promoted by their co-operation.

Mr. I. Chamberlain, a writer upon the New York press, whose death is announced by the journals of that city, served with Manton Marble upon the World and, in 1868, during the absence of Mr. Marble, its editor wrote and inserted on his own responsibility an article advocating the withdrawal of General Blair from the democratic ticket of that year. The article made a great hubbub, as the World was a democratic organ. The same journal, now in different hands, says: "The damage done by that article to the prospects of the party has often been exaggerated, for it appeared at a stage of the canvass when the election of the democratic candidates was already and visibly hopeless, but for some years it not unnaturally shook the confidence of democrats in the journal in which it was published. When Mr. Marble, at that time the editor of the World, was mentioned, nine years afterward as a candidate for governor, the 'traitorous' article of 1868 was hurled at him by his opponents. Mr. Chamberlain welcomed the opportunity of relieving his former chief of the imputation by avowing his own authorship of the article to a reporter, and by relating the circumstances in which it was written."

Among letters written by confederate emissaries in Canada in 1864, and now just published for the first time through the New York Tribune, is one from C. C. Clay of Alabama, in which that individual declares that General McClellan was "privately pledged to make peace, even at the expense of separation, in the event of his election to the presidency." General McClellan who is very chary of positive statements, has thought it worth his while to notice this assertion. He pronounces it "utterly false," and says it was his intention in case of his election to prosecute the war with all possible vigor. It may be fit to observe, however, that Gen. McClellan's vigor in prosecuting war was not very remarkable.

It has been decided by the cabinet that there shall be no extra session of congress. We hasten to give this before a contrary announcement is made.

MISS ROGERS' COMING.—All preliminaries have been arranged, and to-morrow Miss Katherine Rogers and the full dramatic company will sail from San Francisco for Portland on the steamer Oregon. The new dramatic season will open at New Market Theatre on Saturday evening, April 2d and continue for two weeks. The company consists of the following artists: Miss Lillian Andrews, Miss Fanny Young, Miss Imogene Rhode, Miss Della Sawyer, Messrs. Joseph Grismer, Harry Colton, A. D. Bradley, J. W. Jennings, Chas. Morris, Fred Ross, Thos. Roberts, John McCormack, John Miller and Dave Belasco. The repertoire includes the following popular plays: "Miss Multon," "[illegible]," "Led Astray," "Daniel Rochat," "Pygmalion and Galatea," "[illegible]," "[illegible]" and "Lady of Lyons," "[illegible]."

THE INQUEST.—Under instructions from District Attorney Caples and by request of Dr. Parker, coroner of Clackamas county, the remains of [illegible] At half past [illegible] J. M. Cornell [illegible] Dr. Parker [illegible] an investigation [illegible] jury: H. W. [illegible], W. [illegible] Ward and Wm. [illegible], Dr. J. [illegible] Wall, [illegible] at whose house [illegible] and Mrs. [illegible], the girl's mother [illegible] At 1 [illegible] the jury took a recess till this morning at [illegible].

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock, while Geo. J. Collins was at work wheeling rock from a scow up an inclined plank to one of the piers of the new Morrison street bridge, the plank turned and precipitated him into the river. The wheelbarrow and its heavy load fell upon him, breaking his shoulder and dislocating the shoulder blade. After a minute he came to the surface, and kept afloat paddling with the uninjured arm until a rope was thrown to him. He was drawn up to the pier, and taken in a boat to shore. He was then conveyed to the office of Dr. W. H. Saylor, who attended to the injuries, after which Collins was taken to his room at the Globe hotel.

SAD NEWS.—Mr. W. K. Witherell, of this city, received a dispatch yesterday from San Francisco, bringing intelligence of a very serious and perhaps fatal accident which happened to his little daughter Susie. On Wednesday while the little girl was playing on the street in front of her mother's house, a runaway horse to which was attached a wagon, came dashing along at a furious speed. Before Susie could possibly get out of the way, she was knocked down and run over. One of the child's shoulders was badly crushed, a leg broken, and a severe cut inflicted on the head. The injuries are considered necessarily fatal.

SERIAL HISTORY OF OREGON.—Mr. D. J. Stewart, of the firm of Stewart & Co., arrived in this city a few days ago from San Francisco. His purpose in visiting the state is to collect material for a serial history of Oregon, commencing back as remote as the arrival of Lewis and Clarke, and extending down to the present. The history will be issued in separate numbers. There are to be 10 numbers, each number to contain from 75 to 100 pages. The work of writing will be commenced about the first of June; and it is the purpose to issue the first number some time in the fall, or early in the winter.

RETURNED.—The Espinosa Concert Company composed of Senor Espinosa, Miss Landsmann, Miss Gerrish, Mr. Zech, Mr. Schmidt, and the agent and Manager Eugene Schultz, returned Tuesday evening to Portland from a professional trip to the Dalles and Walla Walla. The trip, we are pleased to record, was quite successful. This morning the company will leave for Corvallis at which place they will appear this evening. Monday the company will appear at Albany, Salem Tuesday, Oregon City Wednesday, Astoria Thursday.

FIRE.—At 12:35 this morning a fire broke out in the roof of the two-story frame building, north west corner of Second and Stark streets owned by L. White and occupied by Peter Kalish as a saloon and restaurant. Very prompt service, especially by Two's and Three's, kept the blaze confined to the roof. Kalish carries $700 insurance, which will more than cover his damage, all by water. Damage to building is about $150. The origin of the fire could not be learned.

RAN AGROUND.—Thursday morning, says the Salem Statesman, the steamer Occident left here with about 200 tons of freight for Portland. At Lone Harbor, just above Wheatland, she ran aground and is still there. Capt. Bell came to this city Thursday evening to get the Champion to go down and pull her off, but that boat could not go on account of the excursion Friday night, so he will have to remain until a boat can be brought up from below.

LOST A FINGER.—Yesterday afternoon two children of A. B. Singleton—a boy aged eleven and a girl two years younger—who live near Weidler's saw mill, were playing with an ax, cutting blocks. The girl had raised the ax preparing to strike a blow, when the boy got his hand in the way, and the sharp instrument descending took off the first joint of his index finger.

MEDAL.—Mr. John Van Beurden received yesterday from the directors of the Paris exposition a very handsome bronze medal in recognition of services as commissioner from this state. It bears the following inscription: "Medaille Commemorative offerte pour services rendus, Monsieur John Van Beurden, Commissaire Honoraire d'Oregon."

FILED CERTIFICATES.—As yet only two of the engineers connected with the Portland Fire Department have filed their certificates as required by the new ordinance. These persons are Wm. T. Everson of Willamette No. 1, and Frank Reed of No. 5. The engineers of Nos. 2, 3 and 4 had better look to their laurels if they want any coin.

DEDICATION SERVICES.—The Baptists of this city have erected a neat chapel on the corner of Adams and Ninth streets in Stephens' Addition, East Portland, which will be dedicated on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Short addresses by Capt. N. Ingersoll, Mr. Clinton and Revs. S. C. Price and J. A. Gray. All are invited.

OBSTRUCTING THE SIDEWALKS.—On complaint of Wm. Braden, superintendent of the streets, three well known merchants of the city were arrested yesterday charged with obstructing the sidewalks. They furnished bonds at once and were discharged. The cases will be investigated to-day.

OPEN TEMPERANCE MEETING.—Open temperance meeting this evening at Y. M. C. A. hall. Rev. Dr. Eliot and others will address the meeting. There will be vocal and instrumental music. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

CHARGED WITH BURGLARY.—Last evening a man named A. Gumbel was arrested on a charge of burglary and lodged in the city jail. To-day the case will probably be investigated.

BRIEF NOTES.

Heavy spring shower prevailed last evening.

THE SOCIAL WORLD.

Following is our customary resume of the week:

PERSONAL.

Hon. T. D. Handley, of Hillsboro, is in the city.

Mrs. Frank Hill, of Dayton, Oregon, is in the city visiting friends.

Miss Bertha Baum, of Lebanon, is visiting friends and relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. David, of Oregon City, have removed to Portland.

Miss Octavia McCamer, of Dayton, Oregon, is visiting friends here.

Mr. E. J. Hatch will leave by the State of California next week for an extended eastern trip.

Mrs. A. M. Cannon and daughter, Miss Marie Clarke, of Spokan Falls, left for home last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fishel have returned to San Francisco from their eastern trip and will sail for Portland early in April.

Mr. M. G. Thompson, of Ainsworth, Iowa, brother of Hon. D. P. Thompson, arrived by the Columbia and will spend some time in this state.

Mr. John W. Phelps, Jr., who has been indisposed for some weeks, left by the Columbia last Thursday for San Francisco, to seek restoring health.

Mr. [illegible] and family left by the Oregon last [illegible] to New York. Mrs. Oakes will remain [illegible] during the summer.

[illegible] and Mrs. [illegible] left by the Columbia [illegible] to New England. It is [illegible] will visit Scotland before [illegible].

[illegible], of Kansas City, Mo., the newly [illegible] superintendent of the O. R. and N. Co's [illegible], arrived by the Columbia, and will go [illegible] Monday.

[illegible] M. Hanson, Mrs. D. P. Thompson, Mrs. [illegible] Walker, Miss Jennie Sutton, Miss Laura [illegible] and her cousin Miss Hill, of St. Louis, organized a little party and last Saturday went to The Dalles, where, for the three beautiful days of the week, they enjoyed boating, fishing, riding, etc. The party returned Wednesday highly elated over their pleasant trip.

SOCIAL NOTES.

The wedding of Miss Ella Beck to Mr. J. P. Eisenbach, of San Francisco, is announced to take place April 11.

Last Tuesday Prof. J. M. Marsh, of Forest Grove, celebrated his 45th birthday by a pleasant tea party.

Last Tuesday a Martha Washington tea party was given at the Congregational church at Forest Grove. The costumes were neat and decidedly unique.

An enjoyable surprise party took place at the residence of Rev. H. Patterson, at Hillsboro, on the 18th inst., the occasion being the 50th anniversary of the birthday of his estimable wife.

The Amicitia Club will give their last hop of the season at Masonic hall, next Tuesday evening. Their entertainments are always very enjoyable and the club propose to make this particularly attractive.

A surprise party took place last Tuesday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lord, at the Dalles. A few of their friends gathered, and taking music with them, proceeded to their residence, where the hours were passed very enjoyably in dancing and other amusements. All were well entertained, and are in favor of surprise parties occurring more frequently.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dunn were tendered a complete surprise at Eagle Cliff on Monday evening, in the shape of a sheet and pillow case party attended by residents of the village and vicinity, and several from Astoria. Among the interesting features of the evening was a prize cake, to be awarded the person telling the best story. Mr. J. W. Hume of Astoria "took the cake."

RECEPTION TO MR. AND MRS. W. A. FAIRWEATHER.

Thursday of last week, Mr. W. A. Fairweather, brother of Mr. H. W. Fairweather of the Northern Pacific R. R. Co. and bride, (nee Miss Annie Myers of Oregon City) were tendered a reception at the residence of Master Mechanic J. F. Curtis, at The Dalles. The machine shop cornet band serenaded the couple.

The following ladies and gentlemen were present, and assisted the host in entertaining the happy couple: Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Thielsen, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Noble, Mr. and Mrs. C. Z. Sandlers, Mrs. H. H. Sansbury, Mrs. S. McDowell, Mr. and Mrs. A. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. W. Doulon, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Seamon.

WOODEN WEDDING.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Humphrey, to the number of about thirty, met last Wednesday evening at their residence, to celebrate the fifth anniversary of their marriage. The evening passed off very pleasantly in social converse, music, etc. Wooden presents being in order, numerous were the articles contributed, embracing many useful articles, ornaments, stands, chairs, vases, scroll-sawed work boxes, paper knives, etc., some of which were marvels of curiosity.

SILVER WEDDING.

Last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Oppenheimer celebrated their silver wedding at their residence on Eighth street, between Washington and Stark, in splendid style. In the afternoon their married friends to the number of 40 assembled and at five o'clock sat down to a sumptuous dinner. In the evening a large number of young people called and were well entertained. A number of rich silver presents were received from relatives, and a great number of elegant floral tributes were sent in during the day.

DONATION PARTY.

Saturday last a number of friends and members of the M. E. church of Eugene gave its pastor, Rev. I. D. Driver, a surprise and donation party, the same being held at the church; after spending several hours in social converse, singing, etc., the presents were handed over to Mr. Driver. The amount donated was $160, being the largest donation ever given to any pastor in Eugene. Mr. Driver has proven himself a very zealous and efficient worker for the cause Christianity, and such kind tokens can only tend towards giving him encouragement in persevering in his labors in the ministry.

A. O. U. W. ENTERTAINMENT AT INDEPENDENCE.

The members of Independence Lodge No. 21 A. O. U. W. gave another of those highly successful entertainments on Thursday evening last for which the order in this state and elsewhere has become so justly popular. Although as yet the lodge is, as it were, but in its infancy, its reputation as a promoter of good things for the body and mind has become thoroughly established. Realizing the fact that more interest should be awakened in that city in the order, the lodge conceived the idea of giving a public entertainment and committees were at once appointed to take charge of the matter. Invitations were extended to the various lodges of Salem to be present and the members of the order in that city chartered the steamer Champion which left there about 5 o'clock in the evening with about ninety excursionists on board, including a large number of ladies. Music was furnished, and the up trip was enlivened therewith, it having the effect of setting various feet in motion treading the mazy dance. The officers of the boat were untiring in their efforts to make their guests comfortable, even the deck hands furnishing an exhibition of swinging the Indian clubs, and a Chinese walk around which created considerable amusement. Arriving at Independence a committee received their visitors and escorted them to their meeting hall, from whence the order marched in a body to the public hall, where the exercises of the evening were announced to take place. The room was crowded with the members of the order and their friends. The programme embraced music, both vocal and instrumental, literary exercises and an address written by Hon. W. G. Piper, which, owing to his unavoidable absence, was read by Frank E. Hodgkin, of Salem. Miss Annie Godley and Master John Denlman, each gave recitations in a very acceptable manner, and D. L. Green, Esq., of Salem, gave some interesting statistics in connection with the order. The exercises being over supper was provided for every one at the Belt House, and was certainly a success, the tables being loaded down with choice viands, and although emptied several times, were quickly refilled, the last table proving fully as attractive as the first. Those who desired to were then invited to return to the public hall where, music having been furnished, dancing was indulged in until a late hour and the Salem town clock struck 6 o'clock A. M., as we learn, although good natured the capitolians stepped from the boat to the landing near Kinney's mills, remembering with grateful thanks the courtesies and hospitality shown them by the Workmen and citizens generally of Independence.

EXERCISES AT UMPQUA ACADEMY.

Quite a large and fashionable audience assembled Wednesday evening in the Umpqua academy chapel at Wilbur, Douglas county, to witness the closing exercises of the winter term. The faculty, assisted by numerous others, rendered the comedy "Paddle your own canoe." Especially deserving of praise were the recitations "Maud Muller" by Miss Ida Booth; "The Newsboy's Debt," by Miss Anna Cooper, and the song, "The Model Church," by Prof. H. L. Benson; also "The Engineer's Ride," by Mrs. F. W. Benson.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT.

Next Tuesday evening a musical and literary entertainment will be given at the First Congregational church of this city, under the auspices of the ladies of that church. On that occasion a very excellent programme will be rendered. Among those who will participate in the exercises may be mentioned, Mrs. Epperly, Miss Emma Abell, Mrs. D. F. Smith, Mrs. Marcus Freeman, Jr., Francis Smith, Mr. Simon Harris, Mrs. Cruzan, Mr. Van Beurden, Mr. Edgar E. Coursen, Col. John McCraken and Miss Bess Carson.

IMPROVEMENTS.

Sixteenth street, from E to B, is being sidewalked.

D. Monnastes is building a large and elegant residence, Third and Columbia.

The Vaughn Block, Fourth and Columbia, is being cleared for building purposes.

The brick work of Mr. Pennoyer's new residence, Morrison and West Park is finished.

Lot on Washington and Eighth is being excavated for a residence to be erected hereafter.

The old shanties adjoining this office, are nearly cleared away. The new building will be commenced at once.

The Rosenblatt residence, Eighth and Alder, is well advanced. The frame work will be up and covered soon.

Woods the Hatter, 143 First street, is selling Spring style Hats lower than San Francisco prices. His goods are all fresh,—no old stock, but all fashionable goods by express from Eastern markets.

Another flood of rejoicing over the arrival of W. J. Quinn's Spring stock of new goods just arrived from Van Engen & Co., New York.

LEASE OF LIFE.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED TO HENRY WINTZINGERODE.

The Supreme Court Decides that the Prisoner's Confessions were Improperly Admitted, and Reverses the Decision of the Lower Court.

The supreme court yesterday morning rendered the following decision:

State of Oregon, resp., vs. Henry Wintzingerode, app.; appeal from Washington county. Judgment of court below reversed and cause remanded for new trial. Opinion by Waldo, J.

SYLLABUS.

1. An indictment for murder in the form provided by section 70 of the criminal code is sufficient.

2. If the facts specified in the indictment constitute the crime of murder in the first degree under section [illegible] of the criminal code, it will support a conviction in either degree.

3. Evidence, if relevant to the issue, in a criminal action, is not rendered inadmissible for the reason that it tends to prove the defendant guilty of other [illegible] offenses.

4. Evidence of the defendant having procured two [illegible] shortly before the murder, which were found soon after [illegible] his bed [illegible] though only [illegible] the crime [illegible] was [illegible] admissible, though it was not shown to have been actually used.

5. Evidence that the defendant was seen the day after the murder, in possession of a certain sum of money, in connection with other evidence that he did not possess a large amount prior to that time and that deceased did have a similar amount [illegible] of the same kind only a few days before his death, was admissible to connect the defendant with the commission of the murder. It might, in connection with the other evidence offered by the state, justify an inference that it was the fruits of the crime and the motive for its commission.

6. Section 139 of the criminal code has not altered the rule of the common law as to the tendering of confessions induced by the influence of hope, applied to the prisoner's mind by an officer of the law, having him in custody on a charge of crime.

7. When a confession has been improperly obtained by such officer from a prisoner in his custody, by such means, a subsequent confession of similar facts made by the prisoner, while still in custody, upon the same charge, should be excluded unless facts or circumstances are shown which fairly justify the inference that the influence under which the original confession was obtained has ceased to operate upon the prisoner's mind.

8. Whether such influence has ceased is a question of fact to be determined by the court below, in which the trial is held, and it is only where the record fails to show that any satisfactory evidence was before that court on the question that this court will disturb its determination.

SPECIAL CHURCH NOTICES.

Congregational church—J. A. Cruzan will preach Sunday morning. No evening service.

PLANTING THE CLASS TREE.

Interesting Exercises at Park School Grounds Yesterday.

The senior class of the Portland High school has been on the qui vive during the past few days, the occasion being the planting of the "class tree" of 1881. Yesterday was the day fixed for the ceremonies, and the fact that this was to be the first class tree planted by pupils of our public schools made the occasion one of special interest to many besides those immediately concerned in the event. The hour of 2 o'clock having arrived, the pupils of the High School preceded by the members of the senior class marched to the tap of the drum down the broad stairways and out upon the beautiful lawn, forming a circle about the spot in the north-east corner of the ground where the sward had been broken, and the tree, a fine laburnum, lay ready for planting. A large crowd of spectators thronged the walks outside of the grounds, while many friends and patrons of the schools watched the scene from the windows of the [illegible] building. When the pupils had taken their place, the "Flag of Liberty" was rendered with much spirit. After this Miss Camilla Coburn stepped from the ranks of the graduating class and [illegible] as follows:

ADDRESS.

Classmates: [illegible] most pleasant [illegible] to plant [illegible] whose [illegible] will [illegible] and [illegible] our class tree [illegible] the [illegible] Let us [illegible] that its straight and beautiful [illegible] are alike [illegible] of the future [illegible] and [illegible] who stand here today as its sponsors. And as each [illegible] our steps royally into its [illegible] the student's honors upon the brows of those that come after us [illegible] in the year of grace, 188[illegible].

Inspired by heaven's choicest dews, kissed by the most gracious sunshine, unstained by its whitest snows, fanned by the sweet breath of its most balmy zephyrs, strengthened by its toughest blasts, be thou, lovely Laburnum, our tree, a thing of beauty and an emblem of our dearest ambitions. And now,

> "Wide let its hollow bed be made,
> There gently lay the roots, and there
> Sift the dark mould with kindly care,
> And press it o'er them tenderly,
> As round the sleeping infant's feet
> The mother folds the cradle sheet."

Miss Coburn resumed her place in the ranks, and Mr. Nathan Simon advanced, bearing in his hand a cylinder of galvanized iron, carefully sealed, which he deposited under the tree with the following words:

The class of '81 of the Portland high school deposits at the foot of this, their class tree, this box. In after years, should this tree be in any manner removed, some member of our class may perhaps look upon these relics of their school days and recall the long passed pleasures and joys of their lives as students. May peaceful shadows protect it.

This box contains a parchment upon which is written the class motto "Prosunt studii non otium esculis" in fancy lettering; the autographs of the class, board of directors, city superintendent and teachers of the high school; report of the city superintendent for 1881, contributed by Prof. T. H. Crawford; "The Ark, an amateur paper, by Curtis Holcomb; "The Oregon Boy, an amateur paper, by George P. Low; copy of the address written for the occasion, by Nathan Simon; copy of the address written for the occasion, by Miss Camilla Coburn; card by Prof. Warren, inscribed "Let the memory of this hour ever inspire you to lives of honor and usefulness;" card by Miss Helen Spalding, containing names of class in English literature; motto with drawings of leaves, by Miss Viola Thayer; ticket for entertainment given at Central school in 1876, by Miss Annie Mattoon. Besides these articles were various badges of heliotrope, the class color, coins and numerous minor articles suggestive of the occasion, by different members of the class.

At the close of Mr. Simon's remarks the metallic case was deposited and the tree placed in position, when each member of the class advanced and threw a shovel full of earth upon its roots. Prof. Warren then addressed the class as follows:

PROF. WARREN'S ADDRESS.

As the time approaches when one is to leave the home of his childhood, when the thought that comes that soon his voice will be heard no more around the old fireside, when he stands with hand upon the latch of the half-open door, and looks down upon the threshold over which he is going to pass to his life work, then he begins to realize the depth of a mother's love and the tenderness of a father's care. Then, too, comes an overwhelming desire to do something which shall be remembered by them as a testimony of his gratitude and which shall remain treasured among the most precious memories that come to them in after years.

Not unlike is the present occasion to you. Soon you are to leave this scene and wait in [illegible] the divergent [illegible] This beautiful tree is a [illegible] to your [illegible] alma mater. It is an evidence of [illegible] you feel the Portland high school to be the most [illegible] and noblest of [illegible].

[illegible] in these last hours [illegible].

"My children. Remember that your [illegible] happy and [illegible] and faithfulness. Be true, kind and [illegible] let unswerving [illegible] Wait, a [illegible] your being to the fullest test. Let a persistent continuity of purpose, of plans and of pursuits give symmetry, vigor and effectiveness to your whole life. Thus shall my fondest hopes be realized in you."

Class of '81—Take these words as the lesson of the passing moment. Heed it, and in after years you will delight to revisit these scenes, thronged with multitudinous memories, and overspread with innumerable filaments of association. Thus, coming to your alma mater bearing the impress of a true and noble life, you can meet, with fitting response, her words of welcome and look of love.

Another song was rendered by the assembled school, and the pleasing performance was ended. The pupils retired in orderly manner to their respective rooms and were quietly dismissed. Rain, the usual accompaniment of outdoor festivities in Oregon, descended in liberal quantities during the exercises, but did not in any manner abate the zeal or dampen the ardor of the participators in this pleasing by-play connected with their school life.

FRIDAY, March 25.

The wheat situation, controlled as it is and has been the season through by the supply and demand of freights, continues languid. The sales of the past week have largely been made up of lots in store at Portland whose owners are tired of paying the various charges of holding here. What would happen if wheat was crowded upon the market no one can say. That it would reduce values is certain, but the staying qualities of farmers and other holders as exhibited so far this season will prevent this. In proportion to the bulk we have on hand there are no transactions of any account. Quotations remain unchanged—$1 [illegible] per cental.

The Scottish Fairy, consigned to Sibson, Church & Co., arrived in the river yesterday and will come up the river to-morrow. She will load a cargo of flour which awaits her here. The Scottish Fairy is one of five or six vessels overdue and which may arrive at any time.

An old wooden vessel without class, the Signet, about 600 tons, now at Victoria, has been offered to shippers here at 85s to Liverpool. She has not been taken.

THE TONNAGE MARKET.

At San Francisco—The Present Situation and Prospects for the Future—The Wheat Surplus.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Recent heavy additions to the fleet bound to California have caused considerable speculation as to the result on the freight market after the new crop is harvested. Most of the tonnage recently added will not arrive till after July. The present fleet need not be considered in connection with the new crop, for large as it is, it is insufficient to carry off the balance of the present crop as the following figures conclusively prove. On the first of January the amount of wheat remaining in the state was conceded by all having knowledge of the matter to be at least 11,-805,466 centals, the amount reported by the produce exchange. Local consumption is generally placed at 15,000 short tons per month, but to allow for contingencies we have doubled that figure, making 30,-000 tons per month, or 90,000 tons from January 1st to April 1st. Reduced, this gives 1,800,000 centals. With this explanation the following table shows the situation:

	Centals.
Stock of wheat on hand Jan. 1, 1881	19,805,466
Consumption of seed, etc., to date	1,850,000
Exports of wheat and flour reduced to wheat, Jan. 1st, to date	4,850,073
Surplus for export remaining on hand	13,115,393

Reducing the above the surplus gives 655,769 short tons. Tonnage in sight, including everything on the way, in port chartered for wheat or free, foot up 391,322 tons with a carrying capacity of 438,782 tons, leaving a surplus of wheat unprovided for of 216,987 short tons. The past week has been a notable one in the history of our freight market. While tonnage on the way has been increasing rapidly, disengaged tonnage in port has been reduced to one vessel and the loading fleet has also dwindled, while but for the scarcity of sailors it would have shown a further reduction of nearly ten thousand tons. Charters drawn have been at best rates paid in the year, the British iron ship English Castle obtaining £4 3d, Cork, U. K.; the American wooden ship Importer, £4 for same destination, and other charters were drawn at nearly as high rates. The only remaining ship is the St. John, and the market can therefore be safely reported as exceedingly firm at the last rates paid.

NEW YORK FREIGHTS AND MARKETS.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The freight market, although not absolutely dull, is not so active as it was expected it would be; still, on the whole, there is fair business doing. The El Capitan is about loaded and will get away by Monday and will be followed by the Gen. Fairchild by the 1st prox. Rates remain as previously quoted and firm. Tonnage is in good supply and owners are more anxious to accept business, but yet ask full prices for their vessels. Several ships to arrive are committed, but their names are not made public.

Overland freights are less active than last week. Shipments include 35 bbls syrup, 50 pkgs tobacco, 2700 cs coal oil, 125 cs canned goods, 120 cs milk, 5 bbls currants, 40 pkgs nuts, 50 bxs cheese, 200 pigs lead; and 254 kegs horse shoes.

Markets as a general thing are dull.

Wheat—Dull, weak; ½c lower.

Barley—Neglected.

Pork—More active and higher.

Lard—7½c higher, quiet.

Rio coffee—Dull and nominal.

Refined sugars—Fair demand.

Hides—Dull.

Turpentine—Firmer.

Petroleum—Lower.

Prices at Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Wheat—Stronger; unsettled; $1 00⅝@1 02⅞ cash, $1 00⅞ April, $1 03⅜ May.

Corn—steady and easier; 38¾@c cash, 38⅞@40c April; 42⅝@42⅞ May.

Oats—firmer; 29¾ cash April, 24⅛c May, 23[illegible] June.

Rye—Unchanged.

Barley—Firmer; $1 05.

Whisky—$8.

Pork—Stronger and higher; $15[illegible] cash April; $27½; May 27½.

Lard—Strong; higher; 10 45 cash; 10 47½ May 10 57½.

The English Breadstuffs Market.

LIVERPOOL, March 25.—Breadstuffs quiet; wheat 8s 6d@9s 2d per cental for red western spring, and 9s 3d@9s for red winter. Receipts wheat for the past three days, 144,000 centals, including 116,000 American.

The San Francisco Wheat Market.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Wheat, weaker; No. 1, $1 37½@$1 40; No. 2, $1 32½@$1 35.

Whisky.

CINCINNATI, March 25.—Whisky, $1 06.

Gold and Stock Reports.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.

Receipts—Wheat 21,000 centals, flour 1100 qr sacks, potatoes 1500 sks, eggs 20,000 doz.

Wheat—The market is quiet with prices against sellers. Market is affected by Liverpool advices. Among sales to-day were 100 tons extra choice shipping at $1 40, 65 tons choice milling at $1 40. We quote the market the same as before, but appearances indicate lower values.

Oats—Market strong but not quotably higher.

Barley—Feed. Demand fair, with an improved feeling. Quote, 77½@85c.

Potatoes—Heavy receipts have affected the market. Quote Chili Garnet at 85@90c; Peerless the same; Early Rose, 95c@$1 05.

Butter—There is a good shipping demand. The market is more steady. Quote choice fresh roll at 21½@23c; choice packed, 22½@23c; eastern, 15@18c.

Eggs—The market is quiet, with tendency to more ease. Quote at 19@20c.

Provisions—The market shows no feature of striking interest. We quote the same as before.

Apples—There is but small demand, except for choice; red cheeks are jobbing at $1 75@2; Spitzenburg, $1 25@1 75; Newton, Oregon, $1@1 75.

Oranges—Quote California at $1 50@2 50; Mexican, $3 50 per hundred.

Lemons and Limes—The market is firm under better concentration of stock. California lemons same as before; Mexican lemons, $12@13; California limes, $1 25@2; Sicily limes, $9@11.

Dried Fruit—The market is not quite so dull and prices favor sellers. We quote the same as before.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, March 25.

Wheat—$1 00⅞ April.

Pork—$15 25 April.

Lard—$10 37½ April.

Ribs—$7 30 bid, $7 00 asked April.

Short Ribs—$7 63.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, March 25.

Wheat—Unsettled; $1 19@1 22.

Flour—Quiet.

Barley—Dull and nominal.

Wool—Quiet.

DOCTORS GAVE HIM UP.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters, and only ten days ago, his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

"Well-a-day! If that is so, I will go this minute and get some for my poor George. I know hops are good."

Is thorough in its Medicinal Action, and yet so agreeable to the taste that patrons often disregard our injunction to divide the lozenge into parts (say two doses) to meet their respective cases. At the outset it is especially essential to observe the directions closely till one becomes accustomed to its use — when mild action and the most satisfactory results are sure to follow.

Ladies and children, and those who dislike taking pills and nauseous medicine to secure cathartic action, are especially pleased with its agreeable qualities.

Try it once, and you will esteem it highly as a safe, pleasant, and effective remedy.

Delinquent Tax Notice, School District No. 1.

BY VIRTUE of a warrant issued out of the county court of the county of Multnomah to me directed, commanding me to levy upon the goods and chattels of said delinquent tax-payers, named in said delinquent tax-roll, for the year of 1880, and if no goods or chattels be found then upon real property hereinafter described, or so much thereof as will satisfy the amount of taxes charged thereon, with costs and expenses. In pursuance of said warrant I have levied on the following described lots and blocks in the city of Portland, county of Multnomah, state of Oregon, to satisfy said taxes as follows:

Names of Tax-payers.	Description of Property.	Tax.
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Now, therefore, by virtue of said warrant to me directed, I will on the 6th day of April, A. D. 1881, sell at public auction at the Court House door in said county and state, between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M. and continue such sale from day to day until said property above described shall be sold to satisfy said taxes and for costs thereon.

JOS. BUCHTEL,
Sheriff and Tax Collector Multnomah Co., Oregon.

Dated March [illegible], 1881.

U. S. MARSHAL'S NOTICE—ADMIRALTY SEIZURE. [illegible] The United States of America, District of Oregon, ss.—Whereas, a libel hath been filed in the District Court of the United States of America, for the District of Oregon, on the 7th day of March, 1881, by [illegible] Northrup & Gilbert, proctors in behalf of [illegible] and [illegible], in a cause of contract, civil and maritime, and praying the usual process and monition of the court, that all persons interested in the said vessel, her tackle, apparel and furniture, may be cited to answer the premises, and all due proceedings being had, that the same may be decreed to be sold, and the proceeds thereof be distributed according to law. Therefore, in pursuance of the said monition, under the seal of said court, to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give public notice generally unto all persons having or pretending to have any right, title or interest therein, to appear before the said district court, at the City of Portland, on the [illegible] day of April, 1881, if it be a court day, or else on the next court day thereafter, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, then and there to answer the said libel and to make their allegations in that behalf.

Dated at Portland, said district, the 12th day of March, 1881.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN,

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of

ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of Disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician, arising from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization is broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Office—No. 63 First street, between Oak and Pine. Office Hours—From 10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M.

All letters of professional business must be addressed to DR. PAUL M. BRENAN & CO., Portland, Oregon.
